JOHN COURTNEY.

DR. JOHN COURTNEY has been engaged in the practice of medicine in Allen county [Kansas] for twenty-two years. The world has little use for the misanthrope. The universal truth of brotherhood is widely recognized, also that he serves God best who serves his fellowmen. There is no profession or line of business that calls for greater self-sacrifice or more devoted attention than the medical profession, and the successful physician is he who through love of his fellowmen gives his time and attention to the relief of human suffering. Dr. Courtney is one of the ablest representatives of this noble calling in his adopted county.

A native of Kentucky he was born in Pendleton County, January 30, 1836, and is of Irish lineage. Thomas Courtney, his grandfather, was a native of Ireland, and when a young man crossed the Atlantic, becoming a resident of Pennsylvania. By trade he was both a glove-maker and tailor. Michael Courtney, the father of the Doctor, was born in Pennsylvania, in 1794, and married Leanna McMurray, who was of Scotch parentage. They became the parents of seven sons and three daughters, and four of the sons served their country in the Union army, one laying down his life on the altar of freedom, while the others returned to their homes. One of these, Thomas, is now living in Indiana, while Marcella is a resident of Arkansas. About 1850 the family removed to Indiana where the father of our subject died in 1875, at the ripe age of eighty-one years.

Dr. Courtney was a youth of twelve years when he accompanied his parents to the Hoosier state, acquiring his education in the common schools there and in the high schools at Leavenworth and Huntingburg, Indiana. From the

Your publisher has been working on the Marriage Records of Crawford County. I have just completed inputing and digitizing all the records in the marriage index we use at the archives, which is all the records from 1818 to 1955. I have also completed transcribing marriage books Q, S, T, U, V, W and X. I have printed out my first copy of this book of Crawford County Marriages, 1818-1996. Look for it to be for sale soon.

William Morgan

William was enrolled on the 1st day of April, 1865 to Company A, as a recruit. He was 42 years old. William was recruited late in the war to help increase the number of soldiers in the 49th, after sickness, death, and the first term of enlistment was up for the men. Most of the unit did not re-enlist. Only about one hundred or so men did, so men were recruited to bring up the numbers. William was one of these men. William served with the 49th Indiana until it was mustered out in September 13, 1865.

William lived in Riceville, Crawford county, Indiana, before and after the war, where he resided with his wife, Margaret Morgan. Unfortunately for William, during a night of guard duty in July, 1865, he contracted a "Heavy Cold" during and because of a "Violent Rain Storm". This cold caused him to cough, severely, which led to two hernias. He was forced to wear a truss for the remainder of his life. Even so, he could do little, if any work, William spent the remainder of his life trying to get a pension.

John R. Weathers

JOHN R. WEATHERS, was born in a log home, on March 12, 1847, near Marengo, Crawford County, Indiana. John joined the 49th Indiana, Company F at the age of 14. His parents knew several members of Company F and knew they would help take care of young John. John Weathers joined the 49th on November 19, 1861, and was mustered in on November 21, 1861, as a company Musician.

Almost immediately after joining the 49th, John, along with several other soldiers, came down with the measles, which left him under a doctors care, when the 49th left Camp Joe Holt, in Jeffersonville, and left for Bardstown Kentucky, in late December, 1861. After recovering from the measles, and before he was released from the doctors care, John set out to join the 49th in Bardstown, and developed, probably due to his weakened condition, pneumonia, and once again, he was hospitalized. He was plagued by disease's for the rest of his army career. After recovering from pneumonia, he joined the 49th at Cumberland Gap, and was with the regiment when it participated in the retreat from Cumberland Gap to Greenupsburg, Kentucky on the Ohio River. Upon arriving at the Ohio river and crossing, his appearance looked rather like that of a vagabond. After being refitted, and sent to West Virginia for a short time, the 49th was recalled, and was to be sent to Memphis Tennessee, by way of steamers. On the way down the river, the steamers had to pass right by the town of Leavenworth, Indiana, in Crawford County, not far from his home. That night, several of the boys, including John Weathers left for shore, and a short visit at home, with the intention of returning to the regiment as soon as they were able!

While at home, however, John Weathers developed another illness, this time malarial fever. He was unable to rejoin his regiment, and was subsequently listed as a deserter. John reported to the Army, and informed them that he was under a doctor's care, and kept the regiment informed of his condition. Eventually he reported to a Military Hospital in New Albany, and eventually was granted Discharge from the 49th, by Writ of Habius Corpus on grounds of Minority.

Later in life, while John Weathers was running for a minor political position, it was pointed out that the newly printed set of books, "Report of the Adjutant General to the State of Indiana" had him listed as a deserter. This fact caused him problems later on in life as well, when he applied for pension. He was able to prove that he had not deserted, and had the desertion charge removed from his record, but the book still has him listed as a deserter, today!

John Weathers was back home, after being discharged from the 49th, when the Confederate Commander, Captain Hines raided into Indiana, and not long afterwards came a report that a large force was again ready to enter the State. John promptly joined a force of about 400 men raised to put down this invasion, and the men marched to Paoli, where they spent the night at the Paoli fairgrounds. It was a cool night for June, and the next morning the defender's learned that the report was false. John was again hospitalized with lung problems.

On July 8, 1863 a report came in the John H. Morgan and his force had crossed the Ohio into Indiana, with 5000 men. The State militia was again called out, and again John Weathers participated in the attempt to capture or at least drive out the invading force. Morgan was eventually captured in Ohio, and the militia released.

Around Dec, 1864, President Lincoln called for more volunteers, and John Weathers again felt the call to volunteer, and so he joined with the 144th Indiana, Company D, on the 9th of February, 1865, again as a musician, and was later promoted to Principle Musician of the 144th. The war finally ended, and John was mustered out on August 5, 1865. John was now 18 years old!

After the war, John entered Indiana University, and became a teacher Later in life he moved to Washington, DC and worked with the Bureau of Pensions. On Dec 25, 1870, John Weathers married Zibbie S. Anderson, at Orleans, Orange County, Indiana, and had two daughters. Daisy M. Weathers, born November 3, 1871 and Nellie G (or Y) Weathers born September 14, 1879 John was described as 5'6" tall, light complexion, light hair, blue eyes, and claimed his occupation was that of farmer. (when he joined the service) Just 14 years and 8 months old upon enlistment. He died January 18, 1934 at Washington, DC and is buried at New Albany, Ind.(2)(8) former he was graduated, and after completing his studies he engaged in teaching until the Civil war, when he enlisted as a private in Company E, First Indiana Cavalry. After remaining twenty months with that command he received a commission as second lieutenant in Company E, Forty-fourth United States Colored Infantry, with which he served for seven months, when, the war having ended, he received an honorable discharge. He was in several skirmishes and battles, and at the engagement at Peach Orchard had his horse shot from under him.

Doctor Vanduron

After the war Dr. Courtney took up the study of medicine under the direction of Dr. Vanduron, of English, Crawford county, Indiana, and in 1865 he located for practice in Newton-Steward, that state, where he remained for ten years. On the expiration of that period he went to Macoupin county, Illinois, where he practiced three years, and in 1878 he came to Kansas, locating in Cottage Grove township, on the present site of the town of Leanna, which was named in honor of his mother. He purchased forty acres of land, erected a good residence and has everything about his place in excellent condition, his home being surrounded by beautiful shade trees that stand guard over a well-kept lawn. From the time he located here up to the present, he has enjoyed a large and important practice. Thirty-six years experience have given him a high degree of skill and he holds enviable prestige in the ranks of the medical fraternity in Allen county.

The Doctor was married September 24, 1865, to Miss Martha Jane Foster of Tennessee. She was born in Jackson, that state, a daughter of William P. and Charlotte Foster, who removed to Indiana at the time of the Civil war, for they entertained strong sympathy for the Union cause and it was therefore unsafe for them to remain in the south. Mr. Foster died in 1881, at the age of eighty-one years, and his wife passed away in 1894, at the age of eighty-seven. Of their twelve children only four are now living, namely: Mrs. Courtney; Elizabeth, wife of J. A. Kellans; Mary, wife of Hiram Langford, and Welcome Foster, all of Newton-Steward, Indiana. Unto the Doctor and Mrs. Courtney have been born four children, three of whom survive, as follows: U. R., a teacher of Savonburg, Kansas; O. D., who is cashier of the State Bank of Savonburg, and A. Papa Stroud?

Mr. Lance Stroud,

This picture is in my Grandfather Herb Haveners collection of pictures. All the info that is on it is Papa Stroud. My grandfathers grandmother was Isabell Jane Armstrong of Crawford County, Indiana and she married John H Stephens in Crawford County about 1869. He was the son of Giles Stephens of Floyd County, and Isabel Armstrong was supposedly the daughter of John Armstrong of Crawford County, Indiana. John does not list her in his pension application, nor is she listed in his obituary. She however lists him as her father on her marriage certificate. I do believe it to be true, for I have his parents family bible passed down to me from my grandfather. I saw the pictures of all the Strouds and this does seem to resemble them. I wondered if you might have any idea who he is?

Thanks

The Brown Family of Crawford County

Date: October 29, 2002

By Jim Patrick tambayman@aol.com

Recently, I was in English, Indiana, in Crawford County Indiana, trying to do some research. The staff at the new library have been extremely friendly and helpful, but I couldn't really discover much about my Browns who were perhaps there only briefly (John and Catherine Hull Brown pre-1840). [Obviously, we've learned a lot since that time—jp] However, I did find a seven-page, handwritten, dictated narrative about the Browns of Crawford County Indiana. It seems to have been dictated around 1920 and it is a bit confusing, but I have transcribed it as written. If anyone can connect a line of Browns to these guys, please contact me. I have nothing more on this line than the following. Thanks. Jim Patrick — <tambaymar@aol.com>

RELATION-SHIP-OF (CRAWFORD-CO.) (BROWNS)

The Browns came from Tennessee. Jehu Brown was the first of the Browns to settle in what is to-day Crawford County. He had several children among whom were Jackson (Jackie) Brown, Ellick Brown, Jimmie Brown, Bennie Brown. Old Jehu Brown settled in Crawford County in Eighteen and Twenty, close to Brownstown, named after him. Jackson Brown was the Father of Uncle Bert Brown, Ellick Brown was the father of Calla, George, Zouve, and Jim Ellick Brown. Bennie Brown was the father of John Brown, Frank Brown, and Jimmie Brown was the father of Harris Brown, Shelva Brown, Rhoda [?] Mathers, and Mag Brown.

Ellick Brown married a Highfield who was the mother of George, Calla, Millie [crossed out] May, & Jim Ellick Brown, Jackie Brown married a Snowden, who was the mother of Bert Brown and she was also a sister to Harris Brown, Shelva Brown, and Rhode Mathers mother also was a Snowden, who married Jimmie Brown, brother of Jackie, making Bert Brown and Harris Brown and Rhode Mathers double cousins. Bennie Brown who was killed several years ago at English was the son of old Bennie Brown who was Jehu's son. Frank Brown, son of old Bennie Brown had one son, Arrie Brown, who is a preacher.

Mint Brown, brother to Bert Brown, married a Highfield the first time, and some of his children were; John Will Brown, Ide Brown, and Moll Brown. John Brown and his wife parted and she married Bog Bill Cummins who had parted from his first wife, Moll Brown.

Omar Brown married Pearl Stroud and they had two children Nellie (Shug) Brown, and Bus Brown. They separated and Pearl married Luther Turner and they live at Indianapolis. Jim Bert Brown & Andy Brown were also sons of Mint Brown by his first wife.

What relation were Harris Brown and (Muck) Omar Brown?

Answer: Harris Brown's father was jimmie Brown. Jimmie Brown was a brother to Bennie Brown, Muck's Grand Dad. So – jimmie Brown was John Brown's Uncle, making Harris Brown and John Brown cousins, because there [sic] fathers were brothers and Muck Brown and Harris Brown are second cousins. Earnest Brown and Muck Brown and third Cousins,

What relation were Carl Conn and Muck Brown?

Carl Conn's grandfather, Shelva Brown, was a cousin to John Brown, because Shelva's father Jimmie Brown was a brother to Bennie Brown, father of Muck's Dad John Brown. That makes Carrie Conn a second cousin to muck Brown and Carl Comm is a third cousin to Muck Brown.

What relation is Lee Brown and Charles (Pekey) Brown?

Answer: Lee Brown's father was Mint Brown, and Mint Brown's father was –Jackie Brown. Pekey's grandfather was Jimmie Brown who was a brother to Jackie Brown. That would make Shelva Brown, Pekey's father, a first-cousin to mint Brown, and Pekey and Lee Brown are third cousins, Shelva Brown being a second cousin to Lee Brown.

What relation are Moll Brown who first married Bill Cummings and Pekey Brown?

Same as Lee Brown, third cousins. Moll Brown was the mother of Carl Cummins – Mint Brown is Carl Cummins' grandfather. Jackie Brown is Carl's great grandfather, and Jehu Brown, father of Jackie, is Carl's great-great-grandfather.

Bert Brown's Father, Jackie Brown, was the son of Jehu Brown, and Jehu Brown is uncle Bert Brown's grand dad. Jim Mint Brown, road contractor, is Uncle Bert Brown's son, and Jim Mint was Jehu Brown's great-grandson because Bert Brown was Jackie Brown's boy and Jackie was Jehu's boy.
